

North Crosstown BRT

Report Back // What we Heard

Project overview

The North Crosstown Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) project is a new rapid bus service that will operate mainly in regular traffic lanes.

To date the project team has had initial information sharing meetings with institutions along the BRT.

Feedback overview

Stakeholder meetings have been held with the following organizations:

- University of Calgary
- West Campus Development Trust
- Alberta Health Services
- Calgary Cancer Centre
- North Hill Centre
- South Shaganappi Area Strategic Planning Group

What we asked

Participants were shown the route and provide with project information. And were asked for initial feedback and thoughts about the project.

Where applicable information on other projects in the area were also shared with the stakeholders.

What we heard

From the meetings so far the following questions and comments have been received:

- Participants asked about how the project will work with other area projects, including their Master Plan.
- Concerns about the size of the buses and scale of the service.
- Questions about connectivity and access to and from major centres.
- Discussions about parking.

Next steps

- ▶ Engagement is under way for the project and all feedback received will be themed in a What We Heard report. The What We Heard reports include comments and feedback received.
